Tutoring Experience

I've been tutoring for more than six years, focusing primarily on IB and IGCSE Maths, as well as Calculus. My experience spans working with students of varying abilities, from those needing extra help to boost their grades, to high achievers preparing for university admissions, particularly for Oxbridge. I've successfully guided students in mastering complex concepts and developing the confidence to excel in their exams. Additionally, I incorporate technology and innovative teaching methods to make lessons engaging and effective. My tailored approach ensures that each student's unique needs are met, fostering both academic improvement and a love for the subject.
